

What's New with NBFE?

LMFTs in Texas Win Diagnostic Battle

The Texas Occupations Code permits licensed marriage and family therapists to diagnose a client's emotional, mental and behavioral problems within their expertise, the state's high court ruled, reversing a lower court. Read more.

Congratulations to New CFMHEs and Candidates

NBFE is pleased to congratulate our 81st Certified Forensic Mental Health Evaluator (CFMHE), Dr. Jaymes Gonzales of The Transition House in St. Cloud, Florida!

Jaymes Gonzales, Ph.D.

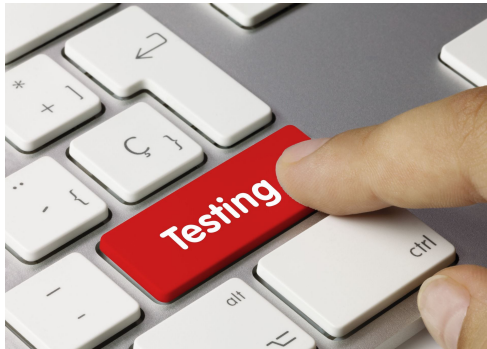

Also, the following candidates have passed the written examination and are now preparing for the oral examination:

Brooke Atkinson (5/23/17)

Jeff Blair (6/3/17)

Ana Aluisy, Anna Leah Benson, Krishna Clanton, Serrita Coleman, Thomas Economos, Leslie Loanzon, Daniel Newman, Kimberly Pacheco, Stephanie Sarkis, Jessica Williams (6/17/17)

Get Qualified to Conduct Psychological Testing

NBFE is pleased to announce its 2017-2018 testing workshop series, a 40-hour training designed to enhance competency to conduct psychological tests commonly used in forensic settings. Learn how to administer and interpret tests for malingering, competency, substance abuse, intelligence, etc. Graduates of the full testing course are given a letter attesting to Level C Certification status for psychological tests distributed by Psychological Assessment Resources (PAR), one of the largest testing distributors in the U.S. Whether you want to become qualified for testing or just wish to brush up on your testing skills, this is an invaluable course.
